

Why publish in Rangelands?

Rangelands publishes articles on the current state of the science and art of rangeland management.

Rangelands provides readers relevant information on current rangeland science and management in an approachable format.

Rangelands synthesizes the diverse fields of ecology, soil science, hydrology, animal science, economics, social science, policy, and culture for landowners, rangeland managers, researchers, educators, and policymakers.

Rangelands is more accessible and contextualized than a traditional research journal while maintaining a high level of scientific merit and quality.

Rangelands* publishes many types of papers:

- ✓ Research Papers
- ✓ Research Notes
- ✓ Technical Notes
- ✓ Forums
- ✓ Viewpoints
- ✓ Letter to the Editor
- ✓ Comments and Responses
- ✓ Research and Partnership Highlights
- ✓ Invited Columns
- ✓ Historical Reviews

Rangelands* has Open Access! All of the top 10 downloaded papers of all time are Open Access!

Open access charges:

Research papers, Forums, Viewpoints, and Historical Reviews: $1350 for SRM members, $1500 for non-members

Research Notes, Technical Notes, Comments and Responses, Research and Partnership

Highlights: $400 for SRM members, $500 for non-members

Non-open access charges: $100/print page, SRM members get first 3 pages for $20/page

Contacts:

Jocelyn Aycrigg, Managing Editor, aycrigg@uidaho.edu

Jason Karl, Editor in Chief, jkarl@uidaho.edu